Congratulations Class of 1985 —

This has been an extraordinary year and you have been a unique class. Your growth and improvement in Academics, Athletics, Attendance and Attitude has caused us to focus and realize that you are keeping true the tradition, "We are triple A + 1." The zeal you have put forth to help others and render community service has made your class most unique. The year has been extraordinary because of wars, rumors of wars, starvation, deprivation, changes, national, state and local; yet you have been able to cope.

We wish for you God's blessings. May your involvement in academic and vocational pursuits, prepare you for the challenges of each day, fortify you with the most powerful, precious weapon to meet the obstacles of tomorrow. May your dreams of peace, unity and brotherhood become a reality.

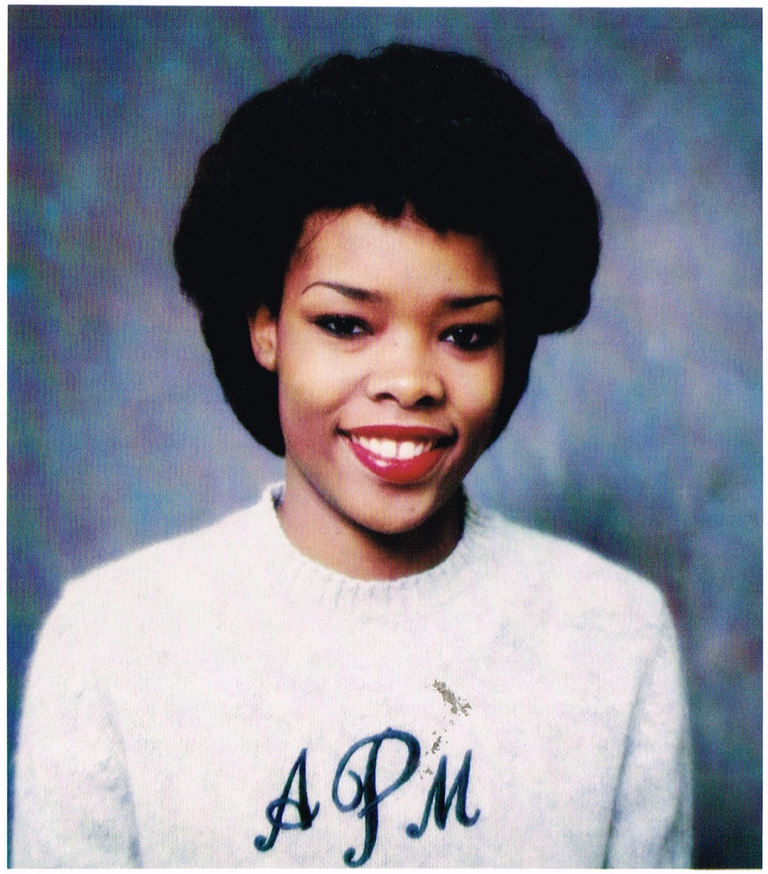
Editor's Message



Working on the annual staff for the past three years has been a rewarding challenge. This challenge couldn't have been met without a devoted staff.

For their tremendous assistance I would like to thank Tonjia Tyus, my co-editor, the staff, and the photographers. You were a great asset to a mammoth production.

Most of all, I would like to thank the advisors, Mrs. Billie Crawford and Mrs. Anne Suitor for their steadfast dedication and constant encouragement.

I wish the 1985-86 annual staff of Melrose High School the best of luck in following the successes of the "Golden Wildcat."

Sincerely,

Adrian Perry

The Royal Court

Struttin' Our Stuff

The day to remember was October 3rd
When all through the school house
sweet sounds were heard
Of a Golden Pageant about to begin
With eleven candidates hoping to win.
The joy to be received with royal merit,
A trophy, a crown, and the right to wear
it.
They sang and they danced or whatever they chose
With hopes to reign as Mr. & Miss Melrose.
While Vickie's breakdance was a sure-
fire hit,
Randy's "Egyptian Lover" gave the audience a fit.
Together they performed with such
vitality
That they deserved the title Mr. &
Miss Congeniality.
For Kevin and Lesley, there's no
explanation.
They both performed with astounding
sensation.
With Kevin's velvet voice and Lesley's
soft shoe,
They got much applause and first
alternate, too.
But when the curtains were drawn and
the music all over,
It was Ann and Dwayne who came out in clover.
With her beautiful singing, his
"getting down,"
And the support of the students, they won the crowns.
Wildcats were honored to view so much talent.
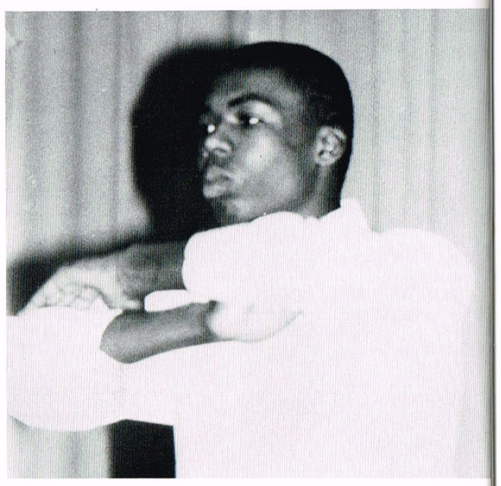
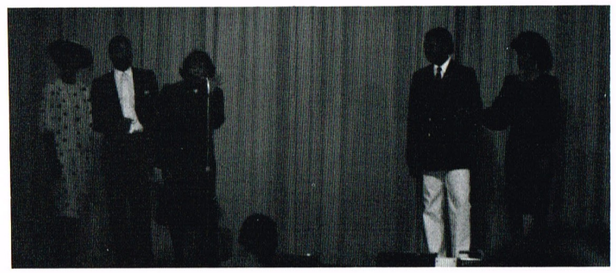
We will always remember this year's
Golden Pageant.





A Night Of Splendor

The coronation was show off time for
the 1984-85 Royal Court.
It stared all of the queens,
alternates, and their escorts.
All the young ladies wore long
dresses that night
With pretty smiles and a little stage
fright.
The young men were formally dressed
In tuxedos, tails, bow ties, and vests.
The 1983-84 Mr. and Miss Melrose came
to present the crowns
To the new Mr. and Miss Melrose dressed in a tuxedo and a white gown.
There was singing, dancing, and
salutes to the court,
With rounds of applause and crowd
support.
Though the Coronation of '84 will be
imitated,
The splendor of that night can never
be duplicated.

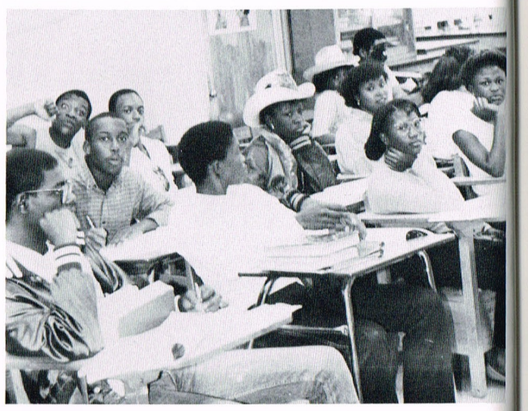
Gettin' In The Spirit

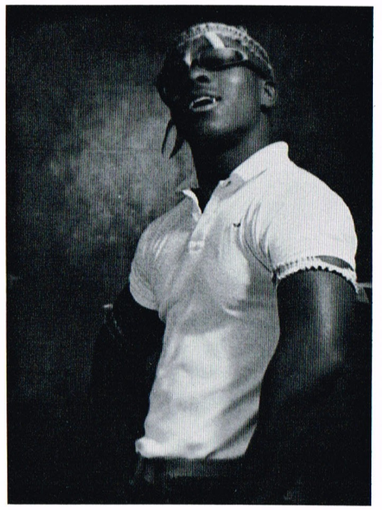
An exciting week of fire ignited with spirit
Many chanted "Wildcats!"; we were glad to hear it!
Five joy-filled days would be bursting with fun.
The annual Spirit Week had just begun.

Monday opened with the Olympic tribute to sport,
All were wearing warm-up suits or clothes of that sort.
The day following, Prince was the star of the day
Students dressed like him in their own special way.

Wednesday, we were cowboys with shined up boots,
Ten-gallon hats and pistols that couldn't shoot.
Thursday was dress-up day and all were impressed
Everyone was dressed in their bright Sunday best.

But Friday was to be the day of all days,
When shades of Maroon and Gold were the craze.
"Melrose, Melrose!" the crowd shouted and cheered,
Spirit Week was over, the best time of the year.





Fire In The Wildcats' Den

Once again it was that time of year
When the Homecoming Pep Rally was already here.
The program was lined up with spirit galore
And once it got started, the students begged for more.

The Homecoming court was introduced as a tradition again.
While the roaring crowd showed fire in the Wildcats' Den.
There were dances and songs dedicated to the team and the court.
It would not have been possible without school spirit and support.

We stopped to compare it to all of the rest,
The 84-85 Homecoming Pep Rally was the BEST!

Homecoming Battle:

"A" For Effort

The team was fired up and so was the court.
The band and the fans all gave support.
The game started at exactly 7:30.
The teams were ready and prepared to get dirty.
The suspense was building and there was tension in the air.
There were maroon and gold pompoms waving everywhere.

As the team struggled through the night,
The fans kept cheering with all their might.
The offense tried hard but did not score.
The defense did their best; you couldn't ask for more.
If the game were considered a mid-term test,
We would have given them an "A" because they tried their best.
